

Museums Association Members' Meeting - Scotland
Glasgow Women's Library
11 September 2018, 1100-1700
#MAScotland

- 1100      Registration and networking
- 1115      Simon Stephens, Head of Publications and Events, Museums Association
Chair's introduction
- 1120      Sue John, Enterprise Development Manager, Glasgow Women's Library
Sue John, part of the senior management team, welcomes delegates to the library
- 1130      Gillian Findlay leads a panel discussion on the Scottish Government's draft Culture Strategy
Jilly Burns, Head of National & International Partnerships, National Museums Scotland
Gillian Findlay, Head of Museums and Collections, Culture Perth and Kinross and Museums Association board member
David Mann, Director, Scottish Maritime Museum
Joe Traynor, Head of Partnerships and Programmes, Museums Galleries Scotland
- 1230      Rachel Thain-Gray, Project Coordinator, Equality in Progress, Glasgow Women's Library
Rachel Thain-Gray discusses a project that is helping museums gain a better understanding of equality, with the aim of widening access, representation and inclusion. The initiative is rooted in the work Glasgow's Women's Library, a values-led feminist museum
- 1300      Lunch
Includes two optional workshops:
- 1300      Sally Colvin, Programmes Manager, Museums Association
Workshop 1: During the lunchtime break, find out how you can access Museums Association funding, including the Esmée Fairbairn Collections Fund, which gives £1.2m a year for projects that have a social impact

- 1330      Tamsin Russell, Professional Development Officer, Museums Association
Workshop 2: Our second lunchtime workshop is Careers Crossroads. Don't know what next? Feel stuck? Come and explore your motivations and drivers to help you take a step back before you take your next career step forward
- 1400      Sharon Heal, Director, Museums Association
Collections 2030 is a major research project looking at the long-term purpose, use and management of museum collections. Sharon Heal introduces the initiative before delegates take part in an interactive session looking at the future of collections
- 1500      Katey Boal, Property Manager, Culloden, National Trust for Scotland and Nicola Wilson, Collections Curator at Fife Cultural Trust
Katey Boal and Nicola Wilson discuss their role as Museums Association reps
- 1530      Stephen Allen, Head of Learning and Programmes, National Museums Scotland
Stephen Allen on Rip it Up, a hugely successful exhibition at the National Museum of Scotland, that tells the story of Scottish pop
- 1600      Networking
Drinks and nibbles and the opportunity to network with peers and Museums Association staff. Includes a chance to see the Glasgow Women's Library
- 1700      Close